

TWENTY DIED IN FEARFUL WRECK

Of The Cleveland & Cincinnati Express At Harrisburg Early This Morning.

CARS FREIGHTED WITH DYNAMITE

Buckled When Air-Hose Burst And Topped Over On Main Track In Way Of Oncoming Passenger-- Explosion Followed Collision.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Harrisburg, Pa., May 11.—Investigations during the early morning hours showed that the loss of life in the terrible wreck which occurred on the Pennsylvania road at 1:10 this morning was not as large as at first reported. But the dispatches which were first sent out in no way exaggerated the horror of the tragedy. The bursting of an air-hose in the middle of a freight train that was passing Cedar street crossing caused several cars to buckle and fall across the passenger track. A few moments later an eastbound Cleveland & Cincinnati express with 169 passengers aboard, crashed into the freight cars on the main track, and two of the latter being loaded with dynamite, a terrific explosion resulted. Passengers were hurled clear out of their berths in the sleeping cars—some to the embankment; many yards away and others into the Susquehanna river which parallels the road in that vicinity. The ground was strewn with dead, mangled bodies and to add to the terrible aspect of the scene, the wreckage of both trains in which several members of the train crew and passengers were pinned, caught fire and was unapproachable for what seemed several hours on account of the intense heat. The fire department and hundreds of hands from the steel mill in that vicinity were hurried to the scene, but the work of rescue was long delayed until the fury of the conflagration abated.

The train is No. 10 and is called the Eastern Express. It left Chicago at 9 p. m. Tuesday night and Pittsburgh at 4:55 Wednesday afternoon. It was due here at 1:15 Thursday morning.

Twenty Are Dead
It is believed that about twenty perished in the wreck and most of the bodies have been recovered. Engineer H. K. Thomas of the passenger was killed instantly. His fireman, R. R. Dickey, was thrown down the embankment and escaped with a few scratches. The explosion broke windows all over the city and the blow-

SIXTY WERE KILLED IN THE OKLAHOMA TORNADO

And Three Hundred Thousand Dollars' Worth Of Property Was Destroyed--Details Of Disaster.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Fort Worth, Texas, May 11.—Five hundred persons are reported to have been killed and injured by a cyclone which demolished the entire town of Snyder, Okla.

The first report of the disaster reached the train dispatcher of the Frisco railroad at Sapulpa, I. T. The reports said the cyclone struck Snyder before midnight Wednesday, wrecking the town, and relief was asked for.

A message to the train dispatcher sent by the Fort Worth Record asking for information was answered as follows:

"We have the same report and are sending a relief train on the supposition that it is true. Wires all down."

Town of 1,000 People.
The telegraph operator at Chickasha, I. T., states that he talked over the telephone with Hobart, Okla., near Snyder, and that all wires in the vicinity of Snyder are down, but relief trains are being sent from several directions to Snyder.

Snyder is a junction town of 1,000 people in Kiowa county, Oklahoma, located on the Frisco railroad seventy-five miles west of Lawton.

Help Is On the Way.
Oklahoma, Okla., May 11.—Relief trains carrying doctors and nurses have started for Snyder from Chickasha and Hobart.

Reports which have reached here say the entire town was destroyed. Only meager reports have been received by telephone from the town, but not touched by the full force of the tornado.

Frisco Station Master Is Killed.
Sapulpa, I. T., May 11.—The dispatchers for the Frisco in this city received a report from Enid, O. T., advising that a tornado had struck Snyder, Okla., wrecking the town and killing 500 people, among whom was the station agent of the Frisco at that town. The request came also for assistance.

ing up of the passenger's engine boiler, left the locomotive a mass of tangled iron. The offices of the Paxton Heat & Power Co. nearby, were converted into a hospital, physicians from all parts of the city were called, and the trolley car ran special cars to convey the injured to places in the city where they could be taken care of. The railroad company also made up specials and carried others of the wounded to the union station.

Among the Injured

Among the passengers were many of prominence. Mr. and Mrs. Tindell, the latter a daughter of Senator Knox, are among those reported injured. Mrs. Albert J. Barr and two daughters, the family of the editor of the Pittsburg Post were injured and taken to the Harrisburg hospital. Others among the injured are: Harry Spritzer of Pittsburg; George Cribbe, Pittsburg; Charles DeForest, Cleveland; B. L. Harman, Pittsburg; Charles Johnson, Philadelphia; Robert C. Dougherty, Littleton, Philadelphia; E. B. Ostel, Chicago; J. F. Phillips, Pittsburg; A. C. Cope, Pittsburg; J. E. Mason, Chicago; Mrs. J. A. Stapley, New York; S. P. Brown, St. Louis; M. B. Sterrett, Chicago; Samuel Stern, Cleveland; J. W. Bridgton, Memphis; H. R. Schmidt, New York; Herman Erickson, New York; J. D. Berry, Bedford, Pa. Many of the injured were pinned under the wreckage incinerated.

Eighteen Bodies Recovered
Harrisburg, 11 a. m.—Eighteen bodies had been recovered by eleven o'clock this morning. Five have been identified. The dead are: H. S. Watson, Clearfield, Pa.; C. C. Kuhlmann, Altoona; Mrs. Robert Dougherty, Philadelphia; Jacob F. Silverman, Bridgeport, N. J. The list of the dead may reach twenty-five. Many of the dead are burned beyond recognition, making identification impossible. It is reported that there are at least ten bodies under the wreck. Many of the dead were roasted alive in the sight of other passengers, who were powerless to help them. The Harrisburg hospital is crowded with the most seriously injured. The list of injured may reach 125.

On the strength of the report the dispatcher ordered a relief train with physicians to be sent from Chickasha, I. T., and Quannah, Tex.

Many Towns Send Aid.
Hobart, Okla., May 11.—The telephone operator here, thirty-two miles north of Snyder, states that it is believed in Hobart that 500 people have been killed and injured. Every one who can render assistance in the capacity of physician, nurse, or other necessary work has gone on the special train.

Nurses and physicians have been called for at all the towns possible to reach in that section.

Another Cyclone 200 Miles Away.
Guthrie, Okla., May 11.—A tornado struck the town of Quinlan, in Woodward county, in the northeastern part of Oklahoma. It destroyed a number of dwellings and killed two small sons of Mrs. O. W. Cox. It was followed by a heavy rain throughout the country surrounding Quinlan, many buildings being destroyed. Additional loss of life is feared.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 11, 9 a. m.—Hundreds are reported killed or injured as the result of the tornado which swept the town of Snyder, forty miles from here last night at 11 o'clock. All telegraph and telephone connections to the town are gone and only meager information is yet obtainable. A train loaded with doctors and nurses left Hobart at midnight for Snyder. Another train has gone from Quannah, Texas. A relief train is also being made up by the Frisco line in this city and another at Chickasha. It is said that practically every house in the town, the population of which is twenty-five hundred, is wrecked. Shortly after two this morning communication between Chickasha and Hobart was established. Hobart confirmed the earlier report which said that every house in the town with the exception of several hardware stores and the Frisco roundhouse, had been destroyed. It is now estimated that the number of dead will reach 250. A

Seven Adepts Go Into Unnatural Sleep
While Listening to His Wonderful Performance.

Peoria, Ill., May 11.—Rosetti, a French harpist, a modern Svengali, worked a hypnotic spell Sunday evening, in which seven local Germans, adepts in music, were wanted to an unnatural sleep by his wonderful playing of his instrument. Herman Sanders, tenor, and Herman Bauer, zitherist, prominent residents, were among those who fell under Rosetti's spell. He played an Italian opera and the music fell from his finger tips so softly that it fairly entranced his hearers. Finally the old man left his instrument and went to his quarters. He awakened six hours afterwards and said that he had traveled in a wonderful country of music and flowers. His subjects awakened at the same time and marveled over the strange circumstance. Wednesday Rosetti returned to Sanders for his harp and said he had almost forgotten where he had been Sunday night. Rosetti is 65 years old. He has been in America fifteen years and thirty-eight years ago was arrested in Paris for playing the "Marsellaise" on the streets.

STATE NOTES

Dr. Jessie Petrie of Beloit was married to Dr. J. W. Allen of the same city in Chicago.

The Wisconsin Skat league has decided to hold its next annual winter tournament in Fond du Lac.

The body of Jacob Lorenz of Chilton has been found in the Sheboygan river.

Frank Johnson, aged 27 years, a farm hand south of Kenosha, was fatally injured by being kicked by a horse, which it is alleged he was beating.

The postoffice at Shawano was burned to the ground on Tuesday. Government stock was destroyed, but the exact amount of loss is not known.

The new cedar shell with which the Wisconsin varsity crew will row this season, has been received at Madison. The boat was built by John Hoyle, the Cornell builder, and is 69 feet in length as compared with a length of 60 to 62 feet of the other boats.

The U. of W. baseball team cancelled its game yesterday with Beloit on account of wet grounds and left yesterday afternoon for Lansing, Michigan, where it will play one game with Michigan university, with another on the following day at Ann Arbor.

The jury in LaCrosse in the case of Theodore J. Bitter against the Milwaukee road awarded the plaintiff damages to the amount of $5,700. A peculiar fact in connection with the suit, which was for damages caused by the loss of a leg, is that Bitter, who is now 22 years old, was about 5 years of age at the time of the accident. He could remember nothing in connection with the accident.

STRONG WORDS OF THE PRESIDENT

Warns Listening Chicago Not To Substitute Loyalty To Class For Loyalty To The Nation--Unions Have Their Places.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Chicago, May 11.—The visit of President Roosevelt, his strong expression of sentiment on the subject of maintaining order, accompanied by the inferential remark that Mayor Dunne would receive federal support if necessary, has apparently strengthened the determination of the employers to yield no point in the teamsters' strike. One prominent member of the Employers' association stated that the merchants would close their stores if necessary before they would concede anything to the strikers. Aside from getting their position before the public, the presentation of their petition to the President seems to have accomplished little, if anything, for the labor leaders. The Illinois Manufacturing association met last night to consider the question of forcing the delivery of goods to all houses, whether boycotted or not. Such a move will be a severe blow to the strikers. The employers this morning stated they would send out 2200 wagons today.

Chicago, May 11.—President Roosevelt Wednesday night, near the close of a strenuous twelve-hour visit to Chicago, spoke a few words for law and order. He was chief guest at a banquet given by the Iroquois club, representative democratic organization of the middle west, and what he said, whether in light or serious vein, was cheered to the echo by his 405 auditors, most of them democrats. The situation was unique, being likened in its political aspect by Toastmaster J. Hamilton Lewis to the era of good feeling of the days of Monroe and John Quincy Adams. Then the strike crisis in Chicago, hovering over the great banquet like a shadow, turned the minds of president and hosts to graver issues and the chief executive of the country declared himself.

Dinner Ends Program.

The dinner was given in the Auditorium hotel. It was the last of a series of entertainments which had kept the president "on the go" from noon, when he arrived from the far west. Twenty minutes before midnight Mr. Roosevelt started eastward to the capital.

The Iroquois dinner afforded evident entertainment to the president. He smiled at the universally expressed

'T WAS LAY-OVER DAY IN THE WISCONSIN SENATE

Numerous Measures Received Their Quietus at Madison Today--Some Of The Bills.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 11.—The senate today passed the forestry commission bill on enlarging the present system of state forestry and increasing the help and power of the department. Amendments by Senators Wright and Munson, lessening the power and reducing the proposed force, were defeated. Only Senators Wolff and Wright voted against the bill. The railroad rate commission bill was laid over until Friday, when it is expected its friends will demand action. The Morris county option bill was killed. It was "Lay Over" a resolution shutting off new business after May 16 was adopted.

ures delayed were McGilhray's architect license bill, Kemp's state treasurer bond bill, Stout's 300-foot bill to keep saloons away from schools, Frear's Bashford-Barnes, "half-breed" attorneys, fee bill, and the bill to raise the salaries of circuit judges. The local terminal taxation bill was referred to the committee on taxation by a vote of 16 to 14, this being an effort to kill the measure that was advanced Wednesday after three hours' debate. The state tax commission permanent. A resolution shutting off new business after May 16 was adopted.

TOGO IS READY WITH EIGHTY-FIVE WARSHIPS

Japanese Admiral Awaits Opportunity To Give Battle To United Russian Fleet.

Hongkong, May 11.—A Japanese merchant captain, arriving here, states that there are eighty-five Japanese warships between the Pescadores islands and the Formosa port of Keelung.

The Pescadores islands have been supplied with stores, provisions, and ammunition sufficient to last the Japanese two years. Heavy guns have been mounted at all strategic positions.

The ports of Keelung and Tamsui, on the island of Formosa, have been mined and strongly defended. Shipping entering there must have a naval pilot. Troops have been stationed ten miles up the railway from Tamsui. The men are old, but there is a sprinkling of recruits, who appear to be reservists. The total number of Japanese troops on the island probably exceeds 15,000. The German and American consuls recently strolled accidentally into the fortified zone of Keelung and were arrested. They were released after half a day's detention when they explained how they came to be within the forbidden zone.

Japan Not Yet Placated.
Tokio, May 11.—Popular feeling over French violations of neutrality has been greatly intensified by the arrest of Capt. Bongouin, a Frenchman, and his stepson, who is an English subject of the name of Strange. They are charged with divulging military secrets. Capt. Bongouin formerly was the military attaché of the French legation. Lately he has been acting as a correspondent of a Paris newspaper.

The government maintains reserve.

but the Indo-Chinese situation seems to be rapidly approaching a crisis. Following the repeated assurances of France that Rojstvensky's squadron was outside territorial waters, the navy department here has received information that a portion of the squadron was inside Honkobe bay, a short distance north of Kamranh bay, the morning of May 8, and it is generally believed that Nebogoff's squadron will use French ports to coal and take on other supplies and clean their bottoms.

Kill Sixteen Jews.
St. Petersburg, May 11.—According to private advices from Zhitomir, the fruits of the anti-Jewish riots there are sixteen dead and over 100 wounded, mostly Jews. Martial law was proclaimed at Zhitomir to-day. The city is filled with troops and order generally is restored, though individual cases of violence are still occurring, and a renewal of rioting is feared Saturday evening and Sunday next.

The official account of the Zhitomir tumult assigns the origin of the rioting to an encounter between a party of Jews who were boat-riding and some roughs on the bank of the river. The latter stoned the Jews, who defended themselves with revolvers, wounding several of the attacking party, but not seriously. Reports of the encounter quickly spreading, aroused the Christian populace to frenzy.

The disorder culminated on May 7 in a pitched battle between Jews and Christians in the public square in the center of the city. Finally the military dispersed the crowds.

IS TURNING OUT GOOD CITIZENS

STATE REFORMATORY IS PER-FORMING MISSION WELL.

LOOKING TOWARD COLONIES

Many of the inmates of Green Bay Institution Planning to Carve Out Careers in Philippines.

(By Lieut. Col. J. A. Watrous, U. S. Army.)

When, a few years ago Wisconsin made an appropriation for the establishment of a state reformatory at Green Bay, it put its stamp of disapproval upon the old saying, "once a criminal, always a criminal." There is so little to remind one of jails and penitentiaries at our state reformatory that one visiting the place may well be excused for thinking one is viewing a force of young men who have gone there for the purpose of learning trades and acquiring a practical education.

Up to the time that the reformatory was ready for work, the rule had been to send men guilty of the offenses which started them to Green Bay, to the penitentiary at Waupun. Since it began operations, boys and young men from sixteen to twenty-four are sent to the reformatory and are given a chance to become law-abiding and good citizens.

While there are cells, iron gates, heavy locks and high fences, there is much of liberty, not for a few, but all of the inmates, except the small number who bring upon themselves punishment which cuts off their liberty. Every inmate is set to work at something useful. The average visitor is astonished at the readiness with which the boys and young men take up work to which they had been total strangers, and become efficient. I will illustrate: It was decided not long ago to construct a large brick power and boiler house. Had the state asked for bids for the building no one would have offered to do it for less than $35,000; but it is to be completed, and in as short order as the average contractor would have completed it, at an expense of $10,000.

A party of the young fellows is set to work to make the brick in the state's own brickyard, near the institution, developed by the inmates. Those who made the brick for this large building, or nearly all of them, had been inmates less than a year; many of them had not been there six months, and not one of them had had experience in brick making, yet it would be difficult to find more perfect brick than they manufactured.

Not one of a considerable number of brick masons who have built the walls, know a thing about brick making. There is so little in these cells that remind one of a prison that I am not surprised to learn that the inmates become attached to them. Each cell is supplied with a single bed. There are clean sheets, plenty of blankets, and the mattress is better than is found in the average American home. Every cell is supplied with a looking glass, a chair, light, and in nearly everyone may be found magazines and papers.

The hospital is modern, always well managed and not a place to be dreaded. There is little sickness among these people. Probably ninety out of a hundred, and maybe a larger per cent, before going there, were addicted to drinking and smoking and other habits injurious to the health. There are no bars here. Among the good things of this institution is the fact that every inmate is given a rare opportunity to learn how to get along without tobacco or intoxicating drinks.

Of course some of these young men will take up their old habits when they get out, but there are many who will not. The latter are likely to prosper, and a large per cent of the former are liable to find their way, sooner or later, back to the reformatory or a state's prison.

Paid for Their Work
All of the men who work receive a certain amount for their services. As a matter of course it is small, but each one has something saving up every month. There are men who have as high as $150 at present. When they leave they will have something to begin with. A system of paroling is practiced, and good results have come from it. It is something for all of them to look forward to. For instance, a young man who has become a good tailor has a record for excellent behavior and seems to be grounded in principles of honesty, is marked for parole. The state has an agent who finds a situation for such a man and he is taken there. It may be in Oshkosh, La Crosse or Fond du Lac. A contract is made with the employer and each month the paroled man's salary is sent to the superintendent of the reformatory and placed to his credit. When he needs money for the purchase of shoes, clothing or anything else required, the employer notifies the superintendent and he sends just the amount necessary, or an order for the articles on a local merchant. When the term for which he was sent to the reformatory has expired, he receives a check for his savings.

Here the state takes its eyes from the young man, and I wonder if it is not a mistake. Would it not be a good investment for Wisconsin to have the right kind of a man to assist those whose time has expired, in getting established or in better situations, and for a year or so to exert a good influence over them, to give them counsel, sympathy, instruction and help in many ways, that such a man could impart?

I found great pleasure in the knowledge that this important state institution has always been under the superintendency of a Wisconsin journalist. The first one was James E. Heg, son of the late Col. Heg of the Fifteenth Wisconsin, who was killed at Missionary Ridge in 1863. About four years ago he was succeeded by Charles W. Dowron, who for twenty years or more was managing editor of the Oshkosh Northwestern. Both had served as presidents of the Wisconsin Press association.

Personal Interest in Inmates
Mr. Bowron fills the bill. He is an inventive genius. He is always watching for opportunities to improve the institution and to better the condition of those assigned to his care. He takes a personal interest in all. He gives close personal attention to every department of the institution. A visit through all of the buildings and into all of the rooms, can be made without the discovery of a single disagreeable odor. I wonder if this can be said of any other state institution. It could not be said of this one, but for such care, discipline and genius as we find in the making of Superintendent Bowron.

His experiences as a journalist, from reporter to managing editor, made him acquainted with all phases of crime and brought him into contact with practically all classes of criminals. He had studied them before he went to the state reformatory and was equipped from the start for the humane, faithful, brilliant performance of the important duties assigned to him.

UNITED WORKMEN IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE
Grand Master J. M. Thayer of Janesville, is Presiding Over Session in Milwaukee.

At Milwaukee yesterday the annual session of the Ancient Order of United Workmen was opened at Odd Fellows' temple, 408 Grand avenue, Milwaukee. The morning meeting was presided over by Grand Master J. M. Thayer of Janesville, Wisconsin. The morning meeting was taken up with reports of delegates from various lodges and other reports of delegates to the work of the convention. Supreme Master Joseph Eckstein of Minnesota, Grand Master J. C. Thomas and Chief Deputy Col. J. C. Thomas are guests at the convention. There are 150 delegates in attendance with headquarters at the St. Charles hotel. Reports show that the last biennial session had been a decrease in the membership through the state, and renewed efforts for the strengthening of the order were urged. There are at present 116 lodges with a membership of 6,000. A fight is on for the grand mastership of the grand lodge. J. M. Thayer, the present grand master, has been renominated for the position and C. Oelrich of Oshkosh has been placed in opposition to him. The election was to take place this morning.

The following officers were to be elected by acclamation, as they had no opposition: Grand recorder—J. H. Marston, Appleton; grand treasurer—F. M. Givens, Fond du Lac; grand foreman—E. B. Patton, Waupun; finance committee—A. Meisner, Berger, Marter, Milwaukee; W. L. Haight, Portage.

It was expected that all the other officers would be contested. For grand overseer the nominees are J. L. McCorison, Ashland, and J. F. Dunsold, Sheboygan, while Dr. F. C. Mock, Milwaukee, and Dr. D. C. Beebe, Sparta, are the candidates for state medical examiner. Delegates to the national grand lodge were also to be elected. In connection with the sessions of the grand lodge, the Degree of Honor, the women's auxiliary, is holding its biennial session at the St. Charles hotel. About 100 delegates are in attendance. Officers were to be elected today, resolutions adopted, and the place of holding the next meeting decided upon.

MYERS ENTERED IN BOTH HALF- AND QUARTER-MILE EVENTS OF CONFERENCE
Thirty-One Men Will Make Up Wisconsin Team—Myers Against Lightbody This Saturday.

Harold Myers is entered with the Wisconsin university track team in both the half and quarter-mile events for the big conference meet, to be held in Chicago June 3. There are thirty-one entries from this state and from those who will be chosen by the team. Don W. Myers, Breitkreutz's running mate of last year, whom Myers defeated in the indoor tryout, has been brought out again and will be Myers' teammate in the half-mile. The other men entered in the half-mile are Schoephoester, Cooper, Stevens, and Sprecher, and those in the quarter-mile are Rideout, Stevens, Schoephoester, Waller, Woodward, and Montgomery. This Saturday Wisconsin will meet Chicago in the Windy city and Myers will be matched in the half-mile against the famous Lightbody of the midway institution. Devine of Evansville is entered for the conference in both the discus and hammer throw.

ACADEMY TRACK AND FIELD ATHLETES OF THE STATE TO CONTEST IN BELOIT MAY 27
Milwaukee, Racine, St. Johns, Carroll, Wayland, Wisconsin, and Beloit to Contend.

In Beloit May 27 is to be held an Academy league field and track meet. The institutions that will be represented by teams are Milwaukee, Racine, St. Johns, Wisconsin, Wayland, Carroll and Beloit academies. A number of Janesville people will probably witness the contests as many have friends who will compete. Some good time is being made in the running events and a number of field records are being broken in the various academics and the meet in Beloit will be to the academics what the conference at Chicago is to the colleges and universities.

RUNAWAY NEARLY BROKE UP A FUNERAL CORTEGE
John H. Jones' Horse Became Unmanageable on West Milwaukee Street.

While a funeral procession was passing along West Milwaukee street at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, a horse owned by John H. Jones became unmanageable and barely missed hurrying the vehicle he drew against the funeral car and the carriage that followed. The boy who was driving succeeded in guiding the horse to one side and the rig crashed into a buggy owned by Sexton Gagan of the Mt. Olivet cemetery, which was standing in front of the Ranous drugstore. Eight spokes were knocked out of one of the wheels of the Gagan vehicle and the runaway horse dashed away to the eastward, the driver not regaining control until he had crossed the Milwaukee street bridge.

Received Gifts From Santa Fe Railroad, City of Las Vegas, Fraternal Organizations and Churches.

St. Louis, Mo., May 10, 1905. In accepting the $1,000,000 tender of the Santa Fe railroad and the 10,000 acres donated by the city of Las Vegas, New Mexico, the National Fraternal Sanitarium for Consumptives, acting in the interests of 8,000,000 fraternalists in the United States, put their new city—"Fraternal City"—on the map of New Mexico, six miles west of Las Vegas. In so doing, the fraternalists have established what is perhaps, the most unique health resort in the world, a sanitarium city for consumptives, to be maintained without thought of commercialism by per capita contributions made by the great fraternal and religious orders who after three years of incessant labor have brought this gigantic crusade, against the "great white plague" to a happy reality.

The formal papers closing the gift were signed and passed late this afternoon in the central office of the National Fraternal Sanitarium, Chemical Building, St. Louis, President William R. Edgson of the Associated Fraternities of America and Secretary Charles F. Hatfield representing the National Association of the Architects, W. B. Janson, assistant to the president, representing the Architects, and Santa Fe railroad, and P. H. Pierce the city of Las Vegas, New Mexico.

The formal announcement of the location of Fraternal City was made to-night at a monster banquet at the Hotel Planters, at which Governor Joseph W. Folk, Mayor Rolla Wells, Archbishop J. J. Glennon, Ed. J. Young, past president National Fraternal Association, Norwalk, O., Surgeon-General Walter A. Wyman, Washington, D. C., and numerous other dignitaries of state, church and fraternalism were present. Governor Folk and the Archbishop were particularly happy in their toasts to the welfare of the new community.

The mammoth consumptive resort or Fraternal City, as it will henceforth be known, is today a fact. It exists. The site has been chosen, the buildings are there, and the time which will be consumed in moulding the material on hand into an enormous sanitarium can be measured in weeks. By next fall when Fraternal City will be formally dedicated and opened, provisions will have been completed for the reception of 5,000 patients, this number to be increased indefinitely as rapidly as funds are available.

This is made possible by the fact that in the delightful Rio Gullinas canyon, better known among health seekers as the Hot Springs canyon of New Mexico, the National Fraternal Sanitarium has today become possessed of fifteen square miles of elevated land at an average elevation of 6,000 feet, every acre of which meets the requirements of Fraternal City. In the center of the tract stands the palatial Montezuma hotel and its accessories, erected recently by the Santa Fe at a cost of $500,000. The hotel is of brick and stone, four stories high, and has 350 fully appointed rooms and baths. There are 750 feet of veranda, which commands a sweep of thirty miles.

One hundred yards from the hotel are the famous Hot Springs of New Mexico, which possess the same healing qualities of the Arkansas Hot Springs. The gift of the Santa Fe also includes a smaller hotel, a fully equipped dairy farm, a chicken ranch, a bath house, electric light and steam heating plants, an ice house, a modern club house, a surgical hospital, a casino and cattle barn, and a heavy stable and carriage house, together with the 10,000 acre grant given by the city of Las Vegas, has been absolutely free to the sanitarium. It is provided that it is used for no other purposes than herein outlined.

The accommodations thus provided will, however, play a minor part in the actual housing of the thousands of consumptives for whose care arrangements are now being made. Tent camps, laid out under the direction of Col. F. H. Buzzard, U. S. A., a sanitary engineer, will shelter the bulk of the patients. These camps are being erected in various elevations for the purpose of giving each case treatment in the most favorable altitude. Accommodations will also be provided at the Montezuma hotel and in cottages for those whose lungs are not affected and who journey to Fraternal City merely as the companions of consumptives.

The government of this unique community is vested in a Board of Managers, composed of fifteen representative men in the fraternal, religious and philanthropic worlds. William R. Edgson of St. Louis, chairman of the Board of Managers and president of the sanitarium, is president of the Associated Fraternities of America; August Schaffly, treasurer, is president of the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. of St. Louis; Dr. H. A. Warner of Topeka Kan., consumptive expert, is past president of the National Fraternal Congress; M. P. Moody of St. Louis, secretary of the religious department of the Sanitarium; expert; C. F. Hatfield, secretary Baptist Publication Society; Dr. W. H. Mayfield of St. Louis, is a sanitarium expert; C. F. Hatfield, secretary ex-officio, is secretary of the Missouri Fraternal Congress.

Ex-Governor W. A. Northcott of Greenville, Illinois, is past head consul of the Modern Woodmen of America; P. A. Hney of St. Louis, is secretary of the National Union; W. E. Farley of Columbus, Mo., is a business man and philanthropist; Paul Brown of St. Louis, is a director in the Continental Tobacco Co.; Edward Wilkerson of St. Louis is past noble grand of I. O. O. F.; E. G. Lewis, publisher, Lee W. Grant, attorney, and Mayor Rolla Wells of St. Louis, complete the list. H. Spearman Lewis has been appointed press representative of Fraternal City.

The new community will be governed by the municipal ownership plan, with profits accruing to no one. There are no bonds to be unloaded on the public, or glittering investments exploited. Trade will be counterbalanced only to the extent of supplying the patients with the necessary conveniences—goods to be sold at cost. Whiskey and cigarettes are under the ban. On the other hand, every possible outdoor amusement conducive to health and happiness will be provided gratis. Those who desire to work will have a chance at stock farming or at any of the numerous positions incidental to the operation of the Sanitarium.

As the climate of New Mexico cures 80 per cent of the consumptives who travel there on their feet, it is expected that from three to ten months will be sufficient to so far cure the ailment that patients will be able to settle anywhere in the Southwest, and engage in business, and in many cases return to their homes, hale and hearty. In this connection statistics show that the sun shines 350 days a year in the Rio Gullinas canyon. Humidity is unknown.

There are several means by which consumptives may become residents in Fraternal City. The greater portion will be the guests of the fraternal orders who have contributed to the general fund, the Orders selecting their stricken men and women independent of the Sanitarium. The same applies to all churches, clubs, unions and municipalities. In such cases the individual will be under no personal expense, the cost of his or her maintenance being charged against the organization which sent the patient there. Wealthy individuals donating in a lump sum, will also have the privilege of sending patients, irrespective of their relations with fraternal or churches. In addition to the cases cited, consumptives not aided with any of the above and who can pay their way will be received on an equal footing and maintained at actual cost.

It will require an expenditure of $75,000 to put Fraternal City in proper shape for the reception of patients, a portion of which has already been contributed in small amounts. Until Fraternal City is formally opened, the business and correspondence will be conducted from the Sanitarium headquarters, Chemical Building, St. Louis, Mo.

A MAGNIFICENT PAGEANT.
The Forepaugh-Sells Circus Parade Exceeds Anything Ever Put Upon the Streets.

May 30, Decoration day, will be The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Circus. The enjoyment of the day will begin with the splendid street parade, the largest and most gorgeous ever offered by circus management. This pageant will leave the show grounds at ten o'clock, and go over the usual business streets. All of the men, women and children connected with the enormous enterprise will take some part, and all of the horses, of which there are more than five hundred, running from the ideal draft horse to the aristocratic high stepper of fashionable interest, will be in the long procession. All of the cages, dens, tanks, lairs, tableaux floats, musical vehicles, fashionable traps and chariots are new, and extravagantly rich. Artists who have made a specialty of festival decoration have designed these beautiful wagons and personally directed their building and splendid coloring. One section is an original concept called the March of Nations. It is a grand exhibition of royalty, aristocracy, soldiery and picturesque racial and national types. Three herds of marching elephants, caravans of Saharan camels, open dens of the rarest wild beasts, richly garbed attendants, gaily trapped horses, superb military bands, grotesque clown bands, singing minstrels, dancing gingers, roystering vaudeville plantations, Japanese jugglers, stately jurists, smart cadets, oriental beauties, Indian warriors, and so on and so on, are to be seen in this division of the colossal pageant. The flashing jewels, studded bridals, filigreed trappings, radiant cloths of gold and silver, waving plumes, shimmering shields, glistening emblems, and heraldic devices, make this superb spectacle a perfect surmount of eye-pleasing grandeur. The average circus parade is a monotonous affair of commonplace features, which provide little of interest to any but the very young. The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' street parade is characterized by splendor, novelty and exclusiveness and expensiveness of feature which separates it from all others, and marks it as the grandest exhibition of the kind ever organized. Excursion trains will be run into the city on all roads circus day. The street parade will start promptly at ten o'clock in the morning. The afternoon performance will begin at two o'clock, the night performance at eight o'clock. The doors will open one hour earlier, to give every one ample time for inspecting the menagerie, which is the most valuable collection of wild animals in the world. Reserved seats and admission tickets will be sold at Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' downtown ticket office show day for precisely the same prices charged at the ticket wagon on the circus grounds.

Excursion Tickets to St. Louis
For the national Baptist anniversary St. Louis, Mo., the C. M. & St. P. Ry. will sell round-trip excursion tickets May 12 to 23, inclusive, and limited for return on May 24, 1905. Round trip, $9.35.

SPOKE OF COW BOY LIFE IN THE WEST

Rev. Fenenga Talked to Young Men of Greater American Club Last Evening.

At the close of the postprandial program of the Greater American club, which held its monthly meeting in the parlors of the Congregational church last evening, Rev. M. Fenenga, principal of the North Wisconsin academy of Ashland, addressed the organization. He spoke most interestingly of the life of a cowboy in the west, which occupation he himself followed for seven years. He also told of his evangelistic work among the logging camps of the north and clearly showed what education means among the stumps of northern Wisconsin. The club is showing signs of growth and popularity with the young men. The night of meeting, Wednesday, has proven an inconvenience in many cases and a prohibition from attendance in others and there is now a movement, which will doubtless succeed, to have the meeting night changed to Tuesday.

PERSISTENCE IN ADVERTISING.

A little magazine called "Brains" contains the following good argument on persistent advertising:Persistence is one of the greatest advertising virtues. So admirable a virtue is it that it impressed a poetical friend of mine to such a point that he composed the following true sentiment in swinging verse:"The constant drop of water wears away the stone,
The constant gnaw of Towser masticates the hardest maid, The constant wooing lover carries off
the blushing maid,
The constant advertiser is the man who gets the trade."Who can successfully question the truth of the above? The most successful advertisers are the most persistent advertisers. If you are inclined to doubt this, look through the columns of any other live newspaper.The retailer may insert a half-page ad today and find such a storm tomorrow that the results will be nil.
Will he get mad, swear that advertising is no good and that he will have no more of it? No indeed,—he has found by past experiences that disagreeable weather and other causes often operate against the potency of the advertising, but in the long run it is pleasantly profitable.Supposing a manufacturer of soap wished to create a sale for his brand in and around a town. Do you suppose he would be satisfied with one, two or even a dozen ads? Not he, if he were an experienced advertiser.The chances are that he would sign a year's contract with the local paper, advertise vigorously every week, have demonstrations of his soap in every leading grocery and arrange to have the cleanser on sale in every store that carries such goods. By persistent advertising he would soon create a demand. By persisting in this persistent advertising he would so add to this demand that after a while it would be so well established as to be on a fair foundation. But no matter how firm the foundation appears he should never fail to keep up the advertising. For it has been demonstrated time and time again that to stop advertising an article (the sale of which was built up by advertising) is a sure way of committing business suicide.St. Jacob's Oil is a striking illustration of this. St. Jacob's Oil several years ago, through bold and exceedingly well-directed advertising, had an enormous sale. The company operating the management of this popular proprietary medicine at the zenith of success concluded to "economize" by cutting down the advertising bills. Did they "economize"?
Did they? Did they? Why, when have you heard of St. Jacob's Oil?
When have you bought a bottle? The person with the rheumatism a dozen years ago would have rushed to the drug store to get a bottle of St.
Jacob's Oil, while today, smarting under the twitches of rheumatism, he has probably transferred his allegiance to Omega Oil.This is because Omega Oil is advertised liberally and St. Jacob's Oil is not. Don't be a "quitter" if you start in advertising something. Keep at it—systematically persistent. "Rome was not built in a day" and no business was ever built in a day by advertising. But advertising, in time, has done wonders!

THE MEDICAL BILLS.

One of the largest committee rooms at the state capitol was crowded last Tuesday, with supporters and opponents of the Dinsdale Medical bills.
These measures, three in number, were born in the fertile brain of the medical profession and are championed in their interests.They are actively opposed by the newspaper men, because they attempt to interfere with the legitimate business of publishers, in that they provide a penalty for any physician who has the temerity to advertise. In other words, an effort is being made to back a code of foolishness called ethics by law.The argument used by the doctors is that there are certain classes of medical announcements which are unfit for publication, and they propose to establish a censorship, by barring from the public prints, this class of announcements. If the bills had been directed against the press instead of a certain class of doctorsthey might have the odor of common sense.It is safe to assume, however, that the average publisher is as competent to judge what is fit to print as the average doctor, and so far as public morals are concerned there is no cause for complaint.So far as advertising is concerned, that should be a matter for individual judgment. The code of ethics is a bugbear to many young physicians, who are up to date and masters of their profession. If they can be tied up by ethics, so that they are obliged to fold their hands and wait for the public to discover them, it is all right for the old practitioners, but death to the boys.American freedom is supposed to be characteristic of the nation, and there is no occasion for attaching a string to it.The age is progressive, and the man who advertises what he has to sell, be it professional services or merchandise, is the man who recognizes the rights of citizenship. The Dinsdale bills will be killed, as was the Noble bill last week, as they deserve to be.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

There can be but one outcome of the teamsters' strike now going on in Chicago, and that is defeat of the strikers. It is the first time in the history of the city when the business men have organized in their own interests.There have been many individual strikes, where single industries have been affected, but conditions at the present time are entirely different.
Certain principles are involved which do not enter into the ordinary labor disturbances.The business men of Chicago are contending for the right to peacefully conduct their own business. In their efforts to maintain this right they have the support of the business world at large, as well as public sentiment generally.The issues involved are also vital to the future welfare of the nation.
The settlement of the strike will determine, in large degree, the rights of the individual, as well as the rights of the organization.In this free land every man has the God-given right to work without molestation or fear. Any organization which attempts to interfere with this right must be given to understand that the American people will not tolerate this kind of interference.
There is room for every man to work, in these years of prosperity, and he must be protected by the state and general government if occasion demands.The North Dakota Press Association recently passed a series of resolutions condemning the government for printing envelopes and sending them out over the country at cost.This is government ownership on a small scale and it is the kind of competition which drives men out of business. What is a trust?The South, agriculturally, does not seem to get ahead as fast as does the north. They have rich lands, but the days of the old plantations seem to be passed forever. Northern capital goes down there, is active for awhile and then becomes stagnated like the rest.Dr. McGovern made a bitter and uncalled for attack upon the press of the state at a committee hearing in Madison, Tuesday, all because he called a Milwaukee newspaper man a liar a short time ago and found out that he was trifling with fire.It is not generally known but all paid lobbyists at Madison have to register at the secretary of state's office. Those who pay their own expenses do not register but work just the same.Even Senator Platt is supposed to have had a love affair that will bear publication. His old friend and enemy Chauncey Depew has had many of them, if rumor be true, so Platt is merely keeping pace with the times.Decoration day is the next semi-holiday that comes. It is the day for the old soldiers, the only day in the year when the nation pays respect for its soldier dead and should be fittingly observed.The small boy does not quite appreciate the efforts of the state legislature in measuring off his Fourth of July enthusiasm by the size of the firecracker.There will be fun when those two rate bills come up for settlement by the senate. The fur will fly and the combine whip will snap merrily.It will be funny if those teamsters in Chicago do not run against a stone wall some of these fine days and get an awful bump.It would now seem that France has given aid to the Russians in direct contradiction to their promises not to.Automobilists complain regarding being tagged on the grounds that horses and carriages are not tagged.Maine may be invaded by the Canadians after all despite Secretary Taft's work to keep them apart.The ice cream dealers do not like this weather. They prefer it several degrees warmer.Mr. Loeb fooled Miss Woods of Omaha and did not come her way this trip.Roosevelt came to Chicago and saw conditions with a rosy hue on them.Ever since Cain killed Abel man has listed for his brother's blood.Summer days are coming even if they do not look like it just yet.The seventeen-year locust has made its appearance down in Illinois.

York is in a bewildered state; three widely advertised works have been presented to them for selection, "The Strenuous Life," this was followed in short order by "The Simple Life," and now to cap the climax "The Equitable Life" is heard from.Green Bay Gazette: The New London Republican proposes the name doubtedly make a good one if elected but he will find that there are others who would fill the bill and who also have a hankering for the same job.Milwaukee Free Press: Dr. Gladsten is surprised to find that the editors

the churches taking all the "faint money" that can be got, and using it for the glory of God, while the secular press is opposed to it. If he will a panic announces that the earth is falling into the sun—which is true enough, but with the modification that it does not appear that it will ever arrive there or even get much nearer. Left to itself, the earth would take a straight shoot off into eternity somewhere, but the sun's attraction constantly modifies this line into a closed curve—the orbit. So in a sense it is falling; every inch of departure from the straight line is a fall.Madison Journal: The leaders of the administration are evidently alarmed at the stock of public virtue in the legislators they have brought to town. The Milwaukee Free Press, in a long and exhaustive article the other day, sought to discourage anti-saloon legislation. The responsibility of the article was thrown on one of its staff. The leaders of the La Follette movement are animated by political considerations; the rank and file in good faith regard it as a moral crusade. When the latter wish to reap the results of a popular uprising the managers seek to keep it down.La Crosse Chronicle: Out in Iowa the big packing concerns had arranged to corner the egg market. Plans were matured, the people of the state of Iowa and of the whole United States were to feel the gutting yoke of the egg trust. Millions of dozens of eggs were hidden away in cold storage awaiting fancy prices. For a whole year the ice trust had been supplying the egg trust with ice to keep their product in good condition to be disposed of when the psychological moment should arrive. But the hens smashed the market. They went to laying at the wrong and unexpected time, and the eggs still remained in cold storage and the ice trust still furnished ice to preserve their freshness. Now the great packers are selling their egg plants in Iowa.

EARLY OPENING AT GOLF LINKS

SEASON WILL PROBABLY BEGIN ON TWENTIETH.

OLD CHEF AGAIN ENGAGED

Harry Reeder Will Have Charge of the Club House—Prospects of Great Year for the Game.

What promises to be the most successful year of the Janesville Golf Club is about to open in the neighborhood of the twentieth of the present month. While frequent games have been held ever since the snow went off the ground, the real formal opening of the season of nineteen will take place about the twentieth. There will be mixed foursome contests for prizes, putting contests, driving contests and tennis games in the afternoon and a grand club supper and dance in the evening.

A Few Changes.
It is hoped before the summer is far advanced to have the electric motor for pumping water installed and there is a prospect that a lighting system will also be put in place so that the club house and locker rooms can be lighted. The bath rooms have been given a thorough overhauling, the front porch painted, the putting clock put in shape, the tennis court laid out and will be finished if there is any demand for it. The road-way to the club house from the grounds has been leveled and other minor improvements made that were deemed necessary.

Some Chef.
Mr. Reeder, who acted as chef during the last part of last season has been hired for the coming summer and will take charge of the kitchen and be ready to serve suppers as soon as the weather is better. He hopes to be installed by the 20th of the present month and if he is will serve the club supper on the opening night. Those who tasted Mr. Reeder's meals last fall will be pleased to know he is to be in charge again this summer.

Some contests.
Some of the contests now talked of with outside clubs are the annual games with Madison and Rockford, contests with Kenosha, Racine and some Chicago club. Aside from these there are the annual club contests for the Richardson, Valentine and Piffeld medals, the dates of which have not yet been set.

CHAMPION TO BE ON POLICE FORCE

Confirmation of His Appointment by the Commission Will Follow Appointment by the Marshal.

City Marshal Constable has appointed Peter D. Champion as a member of the Janesville police force and the appointment will in all likelihood be confirmed by the fire and police commission. His coming to the force will not mean the displacement of any other officer, but is rather in line with the increase desired upon some time ago. He is a capable man and is expected to give a good account of himself as he did during his twelve years' service as a driver of the fire department aerial-ladder team. Mr. Champion is 37 years of age and weighs 196 pounds. It is not yet known what territory will be assigned to him.

MISS AVA DUTTON UNITED IN MARRIAGE TO JEROME
E. WILDERMUTH OF PLANO

Groom is a Missionary in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

A very pleasant wedding took place Tuesday evening at the beautiful country home, "Mount Pleasant," of O. N. Dutton, about five miles north of the city. The contracting parties were the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Dutton, Ava Ellen, a high graduate of the class of 1926, and Jerome E. Wildermuth of Plano, a missionary in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. The groom's father, Elder E. M. Wildermuth, also of Plano, officiated. The parlors were beautifully decorated with vines, carnations, lilies and potted plants. Over forty guests were seated at small tables to partake of a bountiful wedding supper. The many presents were both beautiful and useful. Mr. and Mrs. Wildermuth will make their home at Beardstown, Ill. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

SAYS HE WAS NOT EVADING OFFICERS

Hal Reifenberg Takes Exception to Story Published in Yesterday's Issue of Gazette.

Hal Reifenberg informs the Gazette that he was seriously misrepresented in the article regarding the neighborhood quarrel which appeared in yesterday's paper. He says that the story about the officers haunting his house was a myth as he returned from Milwaukee to Janesville on no less than three occasions since the warrant, which by the way has not been served, was issued for him. The scene of the trouble was on Caroline street and it occurred only about four weeks ago. Mr. Reifenberg says that the assault was made on him on his own premises and that he got away from the melee as soon as he was able to do so.

ANOTHER PIONEER SETTLER IS GONE

Mrs. Lavilla Williams, Who Came to Rock County in 1847, Died in Stoughton Tuesday.

Mrs. Lavilla Williams, sister of the late Judge John R. Bennett and widow of Sanford Williams who formerly owned the American House in this city, was stricken with apoplexy and passed away in Stoughton, Tuesday evening, May 9. She was one of the old settlers of Rock county, coming here in 1847, and was a charter member of the local Congregational church. At the time of her death she was seventy-eight years of age. The relatives who survive here are: D. D. Bennett of Janesville, a brother; Mrs. E. C. Glidden of Janesville, a sister; and Mrs. George Bowles of Stoughton, a step-daughter. The funeral services will be held in Stoughton at 12:30 p. m. on Friday and the burial will take place at Evansville where the deceased resided for two years after leaving Janesville.

Town Talk

H. G. Lowater, representing the Jacobsen Publishing Co. of Chicago which issues "Hide and Leather," "The Chicago Hide & Tallow Bulletin," and several other trade journals, was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office yesterday. Mr. Lowater was working as a boy in the office of the Toledo Blade during the strenuous years of the Horace Greeley campaign and tells a very interesting incident which occurred while Petroleum V. Nasby was writing for that paper. The office had been commissioned with the work of getting out a campaign poster containing a collection of the most vicious cartoons of the great New York editor and an article along the same tenor as the pictures from the pen of Nasby. The paper had gone to press and the whole office force was at work preparing the posters for the evening's mail, when Nasby suddenly rushed into the mailing room and called for a hammer and nails. When they were brought to him he proceeded to nail up the doors leading into the rooms where the tons of posters lay. He then opened the chute leading to the furnace and commanding assistance dumped the entire consignment in. Asking for and receiving assurances that not one of these posters had been taken away from the office, he hastened to the basement with his wide-eyed helpers and began to shovel into the fire, never pausing until every one was burned. Then he turned to the men and boys and again demanded whether any of them had saved a single poster from the flames. When they answered "No," he said very simply and quietly in a voice which Mr. Lowater never forgot: "Greeley has just died!"

Mr. Lowater also recalls the time when Artemus Ward visited Toledo and enlisted the efforts of obliging reporters who were trying to interview him in securing a tape-measure 100 feet long. When the most enterprising and persistent had secured one, Ward asked him to hold one end of it and moved away slowly as if measuring the sidewalk. Finally he rounded a corner and placing a brick on his end of the "string" stole quietly away.

When the remodeled Park hotel was reopened over a decade ago, Mr. Lowater was the first to register there. He is a frequent visitor in Janesville.

WILL MEET MADISON TEAM NEXT SUNDAY

Game at Yost Park Arranged with Schmedeman & Baillie Nine from Capital City.

This Sunday the baseball contest at Yost's park will be between the Schmedeman & Baillie team of Madison and the Janesville nine. James Riley was in the Capital city yesterday and made the arrangements. The team is a strong aggregation and will make a good opponent for the local team. Hinkley will probably be in condition to play Sunday, but if not, Sowle, who occupied the box last week, will again pitch. He showed himself an able twirler and is very capable of playing with the Bower city team. Solbrapa, the heavy hitter and all-around good player from the Northern league who held down first in the opening game of the season and second base in the game last Sunday, has gone to Minneapolis, having accepted an offer from a league in that city. His loss will be felt when the team is at bat, but second base will be occupied by Riley, who last Sunday did such excellent work at shortstop. Frank Broughton will be in the game in Riley's place. Otherwise the lineup will be the same as last week. The Madison team, which is managed by Frank Andros, is comprised as follows: W. Wheeler, pitcher; J. Freeze, catcher; J. Hyland, short; J. Ramigan, captain, first base; T. Conghlin, 2d base; A. Stang, 3d base; F. Freney, centerfield; J. Bartholomew, leftfield; W. Dunn, rightfield.

31 HEAD IN A HERD OF 72, INFECTED

Four Cattle Were Getting Toward the Last Stages of the Terrible Disease.

Dr. Roberts was in Monticello yesterday to inspect a herd of cattle on the Conrad Stauffer estate near there. Out of seventy-two head of cattle he found that thirty-one were affected with tuberculosis and four had to be slaughtered. These four were nearing the last stages of the disease and among the worst specimens that could be found. Twenty-seven passed the government examination and were sent to Milwaukee. The owner of cattle has been in the infirmary of an insane asylum for the past two years and the care of this herd has been in the hands of his father. The request that this herd be examined by the state veterinarian did not come from anyone connected with the estate. Dr. Roberts will tomorrow inspect a herd of cattle belonging to Mr. Lein at Windsor.

A. O. H. Entertainment

The entertainment under the auspices of the A. O. H. and Ladies' Auxiliary at Assembly hall tomorrow evening gives promise of great success. Prof. M. G. Kelly, state president of the Ancient Order, will make a brief address. Mr. George Hatch will sing several songs. The literary part will be followed by a social dancing party. ernor La Follette Intervene in Railroad Man's Behalf.

If present plans mature a petition will be presented to Governor La Follette on the third day of June asking for the pardon and release from prison of Thomas Mulcairns who was sentenced to one year in prison for inciting perjury. Much sympathy was expressed for Mulcairns, even by the jurors who convicted him in circuit court this spring. Mistaken ideas of the duties of friendship seemed to have brought about his undoing. His offense against the law was committed at the time O'Donnell and Griffin were on trial for stealing gloves from a box-car, and little Rose Dulin was the witness he worked upon. The man had always borne a good reputation and was a steady, industrious railroad man. It is believed by friends that no trouble will be found in securing a goodly number of signatures.

COOLDS.

It is a very easy matter to "catch cold" and a great many persons catch a cold without having the least idea how they caught it. As a rule, downright carelessness is responsible for the majority of colds, but very, very often it may be the direct result of overcarefulness.

It is a fact that in one form or another colds cause more deaths every year than any other one trouble afflicting the human race. Generally, a cold is a serious matter, and should be quickly overcome, for to neglect it might result in disaster. Still, many colds are trifling, and Nature may overcome them without any special efforts of the sufferer. Probably this is why so many colds are neglected until it is too late to render service. No one can answer for what a sudden cold will do. The most vigorous may unexpectedly rush into pneumonia and be dead within a week; the young and the delicate may fall into bronchitis or pleurisy and end in consumption. The man or woman who neglects or trifles with a cold and considers it a small matter that may be left to get well of itself is making a mistake in too many instances. If a cold is perfectly simple, then so much the better; it can be ended with very little trouble, and all danger averted. But it is not an easy thing to tell how severe the course of a cold is going to be or to realize how suddenly a trifling cold may rush into the gravest conditions. Prompt action can never do harm, and it may prove immensely profitable. This is especially true in the case of children, when the dangers of delay are serious.

Of course, a cold is not a thing that enters the body, and that may be driven out in substance, although ordinarily speaking, we allude to it as if it were. In a few plain words, I will try to explain what a "cold" really is, and then all may intelligently undertake its prevention and management.

First, I will mention the colds of which we are conscious at the time of taking. These are usually due to direct exposure to dampness or draughts while the temperature of the surrounding atmosphere is much lower than the natural temperature of the body, which is 98 degrees Fahrenheit. A person standing in a windy place or facing the wind when the cold air is laden with moisture is very apt to "catch cold." Under such circumstances the cold air contracts the millions of little blood vessels or capillaries on the surface of the body; and by such contraction the blood is squeezed out of them and the surface becomes pale or blue, and the fullness disappears, giving a pinched look to the skin.

As there is a certain quantity of blood in the body, and the contraction of the minute blood vessels on the surface does not consume any blood, it is evident that the blood driven from the surface must accumulate elsewhere, and so cause an extra amount in some other part of the body. Driven from without, the blood crowds the inner vessels and distends them, and causes an excess in one or more of the internal organs. In other words, congestion.

Just which one of the inner organs or structures of the body will be affected by the excess of blood driven inward by the contraction of the surface depends upon a variety of circumstances.

A few points in relation to "catching cold" are worth remembering, and a knowledge of them may be the means of avoiding trouble. A person sitting or lying down has a lowered circulation and cannot endure to great a degree of cold as a person of the same strength who is in action. So long as a person is in fair motion, or making good muscular exertion, the blood current of the entire body is hurried in proportion to the degree of exertion, and, while this goes on, the liability to "catch cold" is greatly diminished, even under exposure.

A person who has been in motion will find his susceptibility to cold increase quickly as soon as he stops the exertion. Standing or sitting in the cold or in a draught after walking or working may cause the surface to become suddenly chilled and result seriously.

Removing a coat or wrap while the body is still overheated from walking or exercise is a prolific cause of danger. And walking into a cold atmosphere when overheated, without throwing on an extra garment, is another source of serious trouble. Many a woman has walked from the ballroom into the embrace of pneumonia or hasty consumption.

Coming suddenly out of the cold into an excessively warm room is another method of "catching cold." A person coming out of the cold is almost certain to hasten up to the fire to get warm, and soon commences to sneeze or suffer from a cold, thought to be the result of the outdoor exposure. In such cases the cold air gradually contracts the small blood vessels in the membranes lining the nose and upper air passages, and drives the blood from them; and then the sudden change to a heated atmosphere relaxes them, and the blood rushes into them in large quantities, and brings about the conditions known as a cold. Some persons by indoor life, become so sensitive that merely going from a room of one temperature into another of a slightly different temperature will cause a slight cold; and many realize when a room is getting too warm by the effect of its temperature.

I have mentioned that children are often injured by the process of "hardening." The opposite of this is often the case. In the kindly fear lest a cold be taken, children are often kept entirely too warm, thereby relaxing the pores too freely, and thus helping in the very thing that is feared. Children are frequently kept in rooms that are too warm, thereby relaxing the pores too freely, and are not allowed to breathe any pure cold air, or are forbidden sufficient outdoor life. Again, they are compelled to sleep in over-heated rooms or with too much cover over them. The result is that the skin becomes too soft and relaxed, and a cold is then most easily taken. Merely kicking the covers off an over-heated body may cause a child to awaken with the croup or some other serious cold. Colds are often contracted in summer weather. Being in a free perspiration from exercise, and then checking it suddenly by sitting in a draught, is the most common cause of a summer cold. Falling asleep in a current of air, or going into a cold cellar or milkhouse to cool off, may also be mentioned in this connection. A cold taken in summer is usually severe and prolonged, because the surface warmth then becomes so great that the influences which chill it cause a large and sudden fall in its temperature.

In this paper I have given the cause of colds, which includes by a knowledge of them, precautions necessary for prevention. In my next paper I will give some facts on the management of general and special colds.

CLUB NOTES.

Grabada.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Ind.—Dear Sir: I have succeeded in reducing my weight from 200 pounds to 160 in the last seven months, for which I am very thankful to you and the Home Health Club department. I am not going to give up the treatment until I have gotten rid of 20 more pounds. Now I would like your advice concerning my daughter's health. She is past 15 years old, and is not matured into womanhood. She is medium-sized, weighs about 110 pounds. She has been quite well most of the time until this winter. She had lagrippe and has had rheumatism. At one time she broke out with something like hives, complaints of pain in her back and has a blue look about her face and hands. She very seldom wants to eat any breakfast. Her urine after standing a few hours has a dark sediment. I feel very anxious about her.

MKS. L. I have received a great many letters from all parts of the country telling of the ease and simplicity of reducing the flesh by the simple home method that was described in these columns. It is encouraging to others to hear such reports.

Your daughter is evidently suffering with anemia and uric acid. She should adopt the Home Health Club method of treatment as described in the lectures.

Washington.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Ind.—Dear Doctor: I have received so much benefit from Club Notes that I wish to give two remedies that I have not seen. Pine pitch (I use fir pitch) plasters for rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia or pleurisy. Cook the pitch until it spreads nicely. Then spread, hot, on leather or oil cloth. I like little plasters about two inches square. I know they are excellent, my knowledge being gained by about 20 years' trial. If the pitch cools hard, add a little oil or fat. The other remedy is for whooping cough. Let the patient, when first coming down with the disease, inhale fumes from burning sulphur several times a day. If used in the first stages, it prevents the strangling, and if used later, it lessens the trouble. Yours truly, A. B. G.

I trust that many may be benefited by the remedies so kindly described, although caution should be used not to suffocate the child with the fumes of the burning sulphur. I wish this spirit of helpfulness for others was more general. Many of you know of practical home remedies that would help others. You must remember that one of the Home Health Club mottoes is "Pass it On."

Millville.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Ind.—Dear Doctor: Having seen in the paper that I am at liberty to write to you concerning subjects of health, I will say that I have been sick nearly all my life. At the age of 47 years, am about broken down. Have used all kinds of medicines without results. Have consulted two doctors here and others in Sweden. Can you direct me to a cure? Respectfully.—H. N.

I am sending you by mail a special committee report telling more about my work, and an invitation to join the Club, of which I trust you will take advantage. Many cases come to the Home Health Club, where the person has been suffering more or less for many years, who are greatly benefited by the simple, practical methods which are taught. I think you would be wise to become a member of the club, sending for the life membership certificate, which would entitle you to Volume one of the club books, free. As you have not described your specific disease, I cannot, of course, advise special treatment. I would gladly advise you to the best of my ability. If you will write again, going more into details, etc.

Readers of this paper are at liberty to write for information on subjects pertaining to health. All communications should be addressed to Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Ind., and must contain name and address in full, and at least four cents in postage.

THE TAILOR-MADE SHIRTWAIST

For wear with the traveling or morning gown the tailor-made shirtwaist is the correct thing, and the little touch of contrast or dressiness that may be desired is best supplied in the neck dressing. In the model illustrated a linen poplin is used, deep tucks being stitched down the fronts and occupying the entire shoulder seam. The edge of each tuck is overcast in an old blue cotton in the herringbone stitch, this making for a very smart effect. Indeed, the back is arranged in similar lines; and the sleeve follows the regulation shirt pattern, with a stiff cuff and caught together with pearl linked buttons. The smaller sleeve and the closer fit at the armhole make a dress shield desirable with these. The stock is in navy blue silk, to accord with the blue skirt, the cravat of white silk with little fancy ends of blue, and the belt is a navy blue velvet ribbon with a brass harness buckle.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Benefits of Thorough Training Along Practical Lines. Does not our boasted educational system, broad and liberal as it is, still run too much into ornamental and impractical fields? Do we not drift too much toward the academic, the scholastic and the professional, rather than toward the plain and useful, in our schools?

The country seems, for a time at least, to be swarmed with lawyers, doctors, artists and teachers—but it has not half enough, and it never can have too many engineers, artisans, farmers and expert mechanics. The demand for men capable of managing industrial enterprises, small and great, to superintend constructions, to devise and execute works of utility, always far exceeds the supply. Consequently employment is certain and the rewards are generous.

Official visitors from Germany, who recently came to this country on a tour of inspection, made reports after their return home which amply confirm the views already entertained by thoughtful Americans on this subject. One commissioner states to his government that "American colleges turn out a host of professional men, and a few skilled artisans and craftsmen. The meagreness of technical education, the trifling amount of instruction of chemists, dyers, weavers, and electricians seems a short-sighted policy for a country of 80,000,000 people."

It is regrettable that we must plead guilty to this serious indictment. We have many technical schools, with hundreds of brains and ambitious students; we have in sev-

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all your other organs to heal. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
